FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Release #: 47
Date: February 11, 2021

Space Available in Late Starting Science Classes

COS / Weed – Registration is currently open for new and returning students who plan to enroll in classes during the spring semester. Beginning February 22, a variety of late starting science classes will be offered. All listed are online and degree/transfer applicable.

- Astronomy (ASTRO 1110-02 / CRN 3072) – Astronomy introduces physical models for gravity and light and then builds on our understandings of these phenomena to explore the motions, properties and histories of celestial objects ranging from nearby planets and stars to distant galaxies and the Universe itself.
- Oceanography (GEOL 1140-01 / CRN 3247) – Oceanography introduces the major physical and biological features of Earth's oceans and examines how they are connected. It explores the geologic processes that shape the ocean basins, the forces that move seawater and influence the planet's climate and coastlines, and the changing physical conditions and selective pressures—including those caused by human activities—that affect the nature and distribution of marine life.
- Conceptual Physics (PHYS 1010-01 / CRN 3244) – A non-mathematical general education science lecture course. Topics include: Newtonian mechanics, heat, oscillations and waves, electricity, magnetism, properties of matter, and light. The emphasis of the class is to better understand the physics of everyday phenomena.
